ERP Implementation

Product: Oracle Applications

Client: Telecommunications Company

The Project:

The project involved implementation and support of the Oracle Projects module of Oracle Applications. This was a crisis situation where data inconsistencies where identified in the live environment and the requirement was to stabilize the situation to an extent where normal day to day entries could be carried out as soon as possible. Our consultants worked round the clock to ensure smooth transitioning of the data from development to the live environment. The tasks involved were:

• Redesign of conversions and interfaces
• Testing of conversion in the development instance, and deploying them to live after client approval
• Troubleshooting
• Client Liaison
• User training
